

Ezeomah was a hardworking and determined individual from his educational background. He moved round seeking for knowledge. He was a detribalised individual. He had worked in various places away from his home town.

He conducted research on the disadvantage group of Nomadic Fulani. He diligently set the National Commission for Nomadic Education on solid foundation. Professor Ezeomah was one of the very good teachers and lecturers in the Faculty of Education, University of Jos. He provided leadership in the Department of Educational Foundations. He endeared himself to his students. We will miss his contribution in the development of Nomadic Education.

May his soul Rest in Peace.
