TRIBUTE TO A TEACHER OF TEACHERS

Prof. Chimah Ezeomah was one of those who molded us to be what we are today. Some of us entered the University at a very tender age, and Dr Chimah Ezeomah then was one of our teachers at the Faculty of Education, University of Jos. We admired the knowledge he had because he taught us without using any textbook or notes. If I remember well, in our first year in the University he taught us "Education and Society".

Prof. Ezeomah along with others like Prof. Udo, Prof. Ukachi etc., became more like our parents. We learnt dedication and hard work from them. They guided us, borrowed us their text books to use and followed up on us even after graduation. They encouraged us to work hard and were always willing and ready to help us with topics we did not understand. After graduation, I joined University of Jos as a Graduate Assistant in the same Faculty and Department with Prof. Chimah Ezeomah. He encouraged us to conduct researches, write articles and papers for presentation at conferences and for publication in journals, magazines and books. He told us that was the only way we could grow in the Academic environment. He was one of the pioneers of Nomadic Education in Nigeria. We lost touch after he left the Nassarawa State University, Keffi.

Prof. Ezeomah was indeed a role model, who contributed immensely to teacher training in Nigeria. We have indeed lost a great teacher. He is best remembered as one of the great molder of teachers and for his pioneering work on Nomadic Education. May his gentle soul rest in perfect peace and may God comfort the family and friends he left behind.
